

Article on Yosemite National Park Highlights Its Accessibility by Van, Notes Van Rental Center

Commenting on the recent article, Los Angeles based Van Rental Center points out the natural wonder and beauty of Yosemite National Park and encourages families to share a van for the ultimate road trip experience.

Los Angeles, CA (PRWEB) February 24, 2016 -- For years, Van Rental Center has provided travelers in Los Angeles and beyond the option of affordable van rental for their next family outing or business trip. According to an article published February 16th on Cowboys and Indians, California's very own Yosemite National Park offers many timeless natural wonders for people from all walks of life to explore and is an easily accessible destination on any California road trip. Los Angeles based Van Rental Center notes that, whether people are looking to take in breathtaking views of Half Dome or traverse the park's signature snow-capped peaks, Yosemite is a fantastic, family friendly destination all year round. They note that, thanks to California's streamlined highway system, drivers and passengers alike are able to reach Yosemite within only the span of a day. Additionally, Van Rental Center would like to remind potential renters of the state's currently record-low gas prices, and the cost-cutting opportunity drivers and road trippers alike can realize by taking advantage of the center's smart 8 to 15-passenger vans. Van Rental Center notes that, when drivers want to put the pedal to the metal and take in the unbridled thrill of the road, its fleet of powerful passenger vans will not disappoint.

Van Rental Center notes that one of their agency's great features are the vast number of pick up and drop off points it makes available, as well as their proximity to airports. This means that families can fly to a pick up point, enjoy a road trip, and then fly home before the start of their work week. Destinations like Las Vegas become far more enjoyable when travelers realize they can make it a road trip instead of buying individual airline tickets. As an added benefit, hikers and outdoor sports enthusiasts alike, the center explains, no longer need to rent pricy trailers to haul their gear – they can simply make use of the vans' bounteous storage space to plan the perfect park getaway.

When planning vacations, logistics and transportation can be time-consuming and frustrating, Van Rental Center notes. They ask, why let taking multiple vehicles detract from what can be a comfortable bonding experience shared between extended family members or even corporate clients? Because the center offers vehicles with capacity of up to 15 passengers, everyone can ride together while keeping fuel costs down.

For more information about the selection and rates available from Van Rental Center, give the agency a ring today at (310) 568-8230 or visit them online at www.VanRentalCenter.com.

Contact Information

Bob Westal

Cyberset Corp

+1 (818) 883-7277 Ext: 121

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.