

Van Rental Center Announces the Opening of its New, LAX-Adjacent Location

The Los Angeles van rental agency expands its selection, and is now also providing reasonably priced overnight parking for customers and travelers.

Los Angeles, CA (PRWEB) November 23, 2016 -- Rental agency Van Rental Center (VRC) is proud to announce the November 2016 opening of its new location, adjacent to Los Angeles International Airport (LAX). Located at 10100 Aviation Boulevard, Suite 200, the new location will offer easier access for its customers, both those coming from nearby LAX and for local residents. VRC notes that the new address also features a substantially enlarged lot. The additional space allows the agency to provide expanded, low-cost parking for customers and others. The extra room also means an even wider selection of vehicles. These will include the new, widely acclaimed 12 passenger 2016 Ford Transits, adds Van Rental Center.

The agency also notes that another benefit of the enlarged lots means that it will be able to offer low-priced overnight parking. Parking spaces will be open to area customers who wish to leave their regular vehicle at the VRC lot while using their rental van. In addition, L.A. based travelers heading to the airport are also invited to take advantage of the highly competitive parking rates and, yes, an airport shuttle will be available to these customers.

VRC adds that it's very excited by its new Aviation Boulevard location and thinks that both new and returning customers will be delighted with the larger selection and added parking space.
