Usedcars.com increases their usedcar database from 500,000 to 700,000 with the import of 200,000 cars from The Cobalt Group.

(PRWEB) March 17, 2000 -- Usedcar.com Visitors Can Now Have Access To One Of The Largest Usedcar Databases on the Internet.

Mission Viejo, CA (March 14, 2000) Â□ Usedcars.com a leading provider of used cars for sale, trade, auction on the Internet today announced that it has added 200,000 cars to its database from The Cobalt Group (NASDAQ:CBLT). By providing their inventory to usaedcars.com Cobalt will dramatically expand its auto dealer clientsÂ□ reach on the Internet and usedcars.com expands its database of available used car inventory. Cobalt also partners with other leading new and used car shopping destinations like DealerNet, Yahoo!, InfoSpace, Excite@Home, BuySellBid.com and AutoVantage to distribute car listings.

Â□The vehicle inventory distribution partnerships that Cobalt is forging with leading automotive destination sites help auto dealers reach millions of motivated car buyers and add tremendous value to our dealer clientsÂ□ overall Web presence,Â□ said David Potts, vice president of business development and product management at The Cobalt Group. Â□Cobalt is continuously seeking opportunities to expand this network to ensure that our dealersÂ□ inventory is broadly distributed across the Internet.Â□
Usedcars.com, is a registered trademark.
###

Contact Information
O.B. Benskin
usedcars.com

Online Web 2.0 Version
You can read the online version of this press release here.