

Z28 Aftermarket Performance Parts vendors advertise FREE on www.z28.com

(PRWEB) May 31, 2000 -- FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New Internet web site offering on-line aftermarket parts database to Camaro, TransAm & Formula Car owners

Mount Prospect, Illinois -- www.z28.com announces new on-line searchable parts database to help late model Camaro, Formula & TransAm enthusiasts find ways to enhance their cars. Aftermarket parts vendors can list their parts free of charge.

Http://www.z28.com/parts/ was recently established to help all 4th generation F-body owners easily locate aftermarket parts from various vendors. Vendors and/or z28.com visitors can list their 1982 to present Camaro, Formula or TransAm performance parts on the directory for all Internet web visitors to see. The web site saves people time since it prevents them from having to search through dozens of automotive websites and/or on-line part stores to find parts.

For example, you could find pricing and availability on a set of anti-sway bars for a 1997 Camaro Z28 or TransAm, whether or not they are available on the web, and at what cost, including shipping, you would have to pay. All you do is load your web browser and go to <http://www.z28.com/parts/> and easily find all types of aftermarket parts available, listed by category.

To help you narrow your search, each category has multiple vendors selling the identical items, allowing you to get the best deal around without spending a lot of time to find it. Rather than calling 6 different vendors to get the best price, you can see all of that on-line and compare all the prices. The data supplied for the parts page comes straight from the visitors of www.z28.com as well as vendors across the country. The database is updated periodically as vendors and visitors contribute data via e-mail submission.

The operators of Z28.COM do not personally sell or promote specific automotive parts found on the parts page. It is only a directory for vendors across the country to sell their parts on this web site. Please visit <http://www.z28.com> to sample what this web site has to provide to owners of 4th generation F-Body cars.

If you sell aftermarket exhaust, suspension, drive train components or accessories for 1993 or newer Camaro's, Formula's or TransAm's, you definitely want to promote what you have available on this database. It's a free service.
