

Custom Cargo Nets a Growing Business at US Cargo Control

Expanded options and a new online quote request form make it easier for customers in the market for custom-made cargo nets.

Urbana, IA (PRWEB) January 18, 2016 -- US Cargo Control continues to expand its manufacturing initiatives with the growth of its custom cargo nets division.

The Iowa-based company has always offered stock-sized nets for van trailers, as well as nets for pickup trucks and motorcycle cargo, but has recently increased its options for custom-made cargo nets. A new form on the US Cargo Control website also lets customers send a request for a price quote online.

“Expanding our options in custom cargo nets has given us the opportunity to serve some new industries, ensuring we’re able to offer those customers the features they’re looking for in a net,” said Brennan Melloy, a Cargo Net Product Specialist for the company.

Options available for custom nets include 1" and 2" wide webbing, several color options, and a range of end fittings such as E-track spring fittings, hooks, grommets, and sewn loops. Ratchets or cam buckles are incorporated as tensioning devices. The overall net dimensions and hole sizes are also determined by the customer.

Melloy says the new online form has also been a positive addition to the line, as customers are now able to send a request any time. As always, customers can call the company directly to speak to a product and sales specialist.

The ordering process keeps the customer involved in every step to ensure the end product is exactly what the customer requested. Says Melloy, “Once we receive an order, we create a detailed digital spec sheet for the customer’s approval before we start the manufacturing process; it’s just another step we take in serving our customer to make sure we’re getting them the product they want.”

The company can also accommodate bulk quantity orders and offers custom pricing and/or delivery timelines based on the customer’s specific requirements.
