

SpyderWeb - MR2 Spyder Portal goes Live!

(PRWEB) September 21, 2000 -- The Internet's largest repository of Toyota MR2 Spyder information and community site named "SpyderWeb" has gone live today at <http://www.smiley.net/spyder/>

Toyota has targeted the new MR2 Spyder squarely at the Internet generation who want thrills and excitement at an economic sticker price. SpyderWeb brings together resources from around the world focused on the Toyota Spyder (Toyota MR/S in Japan). The SpyderWeb portal consists of a message forum, chat room, public calendar, aftermarket products, e-commerce store, owner's gallery, and thousands of pictures and videos tailored for the Spyder owner. Buying guidelines and owner advice columns help educate prospective buyers about the incredible new MR2 Spyder.

Spyderweb also hosts a series of "How To" workshops for new owners who may be uncomfortable working on their automobiles. Toyota has limited production of the Spyder to a mere 5,000 units annually. As such, Spyder owners are in need of more peer advice than most automobile owners. SpyderWeb in conjunction with IMOC in Japan has formed the world's largest club known as the "International Spyder Owner's Club" - ISOC. Membership applications can be found online. Members are entitled to special discounts on Toyota, TRD, and other Spyder related parts and services.

SpyderWeb is a non-profit, for free portal provided as a service for Toyota MR2 Spyder owners and automobile enthusiasts.
