Lemon Law Awareness

If your new car or truck has been in the shop for numerous repairs it is considered a "lemon", and you may be entitled to the choice of a replacement vehicle or your money back! Furthermore, your attorney's fees and costs are paid by the manufacturer. This means that you are entitled to have an attorney handle your case at no cost to you.

As consumers, we have to make ourselves aware of our rights and not allow the dealers or automobile makers to endlessly pacify us. Many automobile makers have customer service hotlines set up to respond to consumer complaints if the dealer has not resolved existing problems. You will then be endlessly re-routed to different departments, given ID numbers, etc. This will continue for as long as you will listen. Remember, the same words are said to hundreds of other dissatisfied consumers across the nation. After being assured that problems will be addressed, many consumers will wait in good faith, only to realize months and sometimes years later, that they have been lied to. Don't go around in this endless circle when free legal remedies are available.

The Law Firm of Michael A. Saunders, exclusively practicing lemon law in the State of California, is announcing the opening of their Website at www.lemon-car.com. If you are experiencing warranty problems with your defective vehicle, you can seek refuge at this Website. Mr. Saunders offers this advice. "Don't be intimidated by Auto Industry manufacturers or dealers. Get the facts, know the law, and become an educated consumer."
