

Launching Autologica DMS Version 8.9

Autologica, a specialist in dealer management systems (DMS) for automotive dealers, announced the release of version 8.9 of its dealer management system.

(PRWEB) February 18, 2016 -- Autologica, a specialist in dealer management systems (DMS) for automotive dealers, announced the release of version 8.9 of its dealer management system. The latest version of the DMS improves the performance of all its modules and includes new features, such as:

CRM Module

Service Marketing features

Autologica DMS can generate an automatic call schedule based on the vehicles' lifecycle. The system calculates the estimated date in which the customer should perform a maintenance service, taking into account past service dates and mileage. The DMS schedules each call, and can reschedule for another moment if needed.

Service module

Improved Repair Order management

A series of improvements in the Service Module allow dealers to save time on daily operational tasks while reducing the margin for error. There is a new control that avoids duplicate ROs and a field that allows you to enter a reason when closing several ROs at once.

Reports

There are several powerful new reports: Technician performance – Productivity and Efficiency, Aftersales calls summary, Commissions on collected sales.
