

Fleet Clean Systems Expands Mobile Service to New Orleans and Surrounding Area

The New Orleans territory of Fleet Clean, a mobile fleet washing franchise, was recently purchased by businessman, Mark Allen, and will begin service to its customers on January 15, 2015.

New Orleans, LA (PRWEB) January 02, 2015 -- Scott Marr, the CEO and Founder of Fleet Clean Systems, Inc., a Melbourne, Florida-based franchisor of mobile fleet washing services, has announced the purchase of the New Orleans territory of Fleet Clean by 26-year-old businessman Mark Allen. The New Orleans' Fleet Clean mobile truck cleaning service will begin on January 15, 2015, adding to the multiple service locations currently operating throughout the southern United States. Fleet Clean has future plans to expand service to customers in all fifty states.

“I was looking to own a business that would both get me out of an office and allow me to earn an income that would support a future family,” said Mark Allen, who recently left a career in finance to buy into a Fleet Clean franchise. “I’m excited to have found this unique opportunity with Fleet Clean.”

Business owners know that first impressions are very important; the nonverbal cues of a dirty company truck don’t bode well for business. That’s where Fleet Clean mobile cleaning service comes in. The company carries everything it needs to clean a fleet of vehicles on its trucks—such as pressure washers, soap dispensers, brushes, water reclamation equipment, and even its own water. By using environmentally friendly products and good old-fashioned “hand brushing,” Fleet Clean bridges the best of the past with the technology of today—helping customers not only extend the life of their equipment, but helping them maintain a presentable image.

For prospective franchisees, Fleet Clean offers a little known opportunity to escape the rigid 9 to 5 monotony of corporate life, yet provides a comparable, lucrative income. The average gross profit margin is a whopping 49%. Allen isn’t the only young professional determined to find a better life through business ownership. The owner of the Fleet Clean franchise in Columbia SC, Will Summerall, was a corporate employee of Fleet Clean Systems before pursuing the American Dream of business ownership. After only a year of business ownership, business is thriving and Summerall is opening a third location in Charleston SC.

The carefully developed Fleet Clean franchise program, started in 2013, makes it easy for qualified owners to successfully operate a business. Not only is there a low buy-in cost, as far as businesses go, all franchisees are provided with support including training, software, marketing, lead generation and automatic invoicing and collections.
