A New Book to Help Motor Vehicle Crash Victims

Gordon Levinson knew something needed to be done to help vehicle crash victims and their families deal with the aftermath of a collision. Therefore, he decided to write and publish his book, I've Been In A Crash! Now What?, and offer the book free of charge to victims and their families to help ease the stress and anxiety many victims experience after a motor vehicle crash.

"In my line of work, I have met so many people who have been injured in car crashes and they always seem to have the same questions. So I decided to write a book to educate people about the basic do's and don't's after a crash. The advice in the book is about increasing public safety, as well as enhancing medical and financial outcomes for car crash victims." — Gordon R. Levinson

As an experienced personal injury attorney who handles all types of motor vehicle crashes including car crashes, commercial truck accidents, motorcycle crashes, and all accidents involving any type of motor vehicle, Gordon understands the devastation caused by a vehicle collision. He also understands the confusion and frustration experienced by accident victims. Immediately after a vehicle collision, the victim and his or her family are at their most vulnerable and insurance companies know this.

In order to level the playing field, Gordon wants to give accident victims a reliable source for information regarding actions the person should take immediately after a collision including information about the tactics and tricks insurance companies may use to decrease the compensation the person is rightfully entitled to receive for their injuries and damages.

Information you will find extremely helpful in Gordon's book includes:

- Steps to take after a car crash
- How to protect your legal rights
- What you can do to help your attorney get a better outcome in your case
- The types of automobile insurance you should have to protect yourself and your family
- How insurance companies try to lower your compensation and hurt your claim

- The growing danger of distracted driving and how The Levinson Law Group is working to solve this problem
- Much more information about personal injury claims and vehicle crashes
