

The Carat Security Group Unveils New Global Brand and Operating Divisions

The Carat Security Group, a leading provider of armored mobile security solutions for over 60 years, announces a significant step in the expansion of their global brand announcing the company will now operate as the Centigon Security Group.

(PRWEB) April 01, 2016 -- The Carat Security Group, a leading provider of armored mobile security solutions for over 60 years, announces a significant step in the expansion of their global brand announcing the company will now operate as the CENTIGON SECURITY GROUP; Centigon is a brand many of the Carat Security Group's current operating divisions have been operating under for years.

The rich legacy of Centigon, which includes the Carat Security Group as well as such well-known brands as:

- * Sayers & Scovill
- * O'Gara
- * Hess & Eisenhardt
- * Labbé
- * Trasco

has stood for quality and innovation for over 130 years in coachbuilding and more than 60 years in armored vehicle solutions. In order to reach a growing international audience and more accurately represent the full scale of its expanding operations, all divisions within the Group will now operate under the new umbrella of the CENTIGON SECURITY GROUP.

New to the brand, but representative of long-standing operations are Centigon VIP, the home of exclusive armored vehicles of exceptional quality and refinement and Centigon CIT, the dedicated division of cash-in-transit solutions for corporations across the globe. The group has also expanded to create Centigon Defense, the tactical solution division and Centigon Glass, the group's transparent armor manufacturing division.

The brand change goes into effect immediately and affects clients in more than 50 countries across the globe and five (5) manufacturing facilities in France, Colombia, Venezuela, Mexico and China.

About the Centigon Security Group:

The Centigon Security Group is an industry leader in mobile security, operating five factories on four continents, producing world-class armored vehicles and security-related products for corporate and governmental agencies. As a trusted worldwide partner, the Group showcases long-lasting relationships with major OEMs and expanding operations that include electronic and ballistic glass solutions.
