During the first quarter of 2016 SW Florida Craters & Freighters will introduce a new style knockdown crate that is reusable for consumers and manufactures. The crates will be delivered to the customer for loading on site and then picked up by the Craters & Freighters trucks for shipping.

Naples, FL (PRWEB) April 05, 2016 -- During the first quarter of 2016 SW Florida Craters & Freighters will introduce a new style knockdown crate that is reusable for consumers and manufactures. The crates will be delivered to the customer for loading on site and then picked up by the Craters & Freighters trucks for shipping. Once received at final destination the client may use the crate for additional shipping or return it for re-use. This is just another way Craters & Freighters works toward being environmentally friendly.

The SW Florida location is proud to be an ecologically friendly business reports Gary McKinley, owner. “For each crate that the company builds, a tree is planted and our corrugated scrap material is given to Goodwill Industries to be bailed and sold for recycling. The small pieces of Styrofoam® that are used in packing are bagged and returned to the manufacturer when new sheets are delivered. Craters & Freighters of SW Florida generates many small pieces of plywood and other dimensional lumber. Craters & Freighters delivers pallets of scrap wood to Habitat for Humanity regularly” stated McKinley. In addition, Craters & Freighters of SW Florida is certified in International Standards for Phytosanitary Measures No. 15 (ISPM-15) which requires that all solid wood packing material for international shipments be heat-treated and stamped with an official mark.

Craters & Freighters of SW Florida opened in 1995. Initially, the facility specialized in arts and antiques shipping. Over the years, the business has expanded services to industrial crating and exporting internationally. Craters & Freighters of SW Florida serves consumers and businesses in all sectors including telecommunications, electronics, medical equipment, aerospace, biotechnology, and heavy machinery.
