

World Patent Marketing Review Committee Approves Car Nox, An Ingenious Invention That Can Potentially Save Millions Of Car Drivers And Passengers

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Car Invention. Will Car Nox Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) May 31, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces Car Nox, a car invention that detects carbon monoxide inside the vehicle and warns the occupants if the poisonous gas is detected.

"The Global Automobile Manufacturing industry is worth $291 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "It has recovered over the past five years from the severe lows experienced during the economic downturn."

"Carbon Monoxide is deadly to humans and there have already been a lot of reported mortality cases because of it," says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Review. "Running vehicles tend to develop this poisonous gas. Unfortunately, since it is odorless and can hardly be detected unaided, it is impossible to spot until it is too late. Car Nox is car inventions that is hooked right inside the vehicle and will notify the occupants inside once the Carbon Monoxide levels inside have reached dangerous levels."

Car Nox is a Carbon Monoxide detector that easily interfaces with the vehicle. This car invention adds additional functionality to modern detectors as it notifies the driver and the occupants inside the vehicle if the Carbon Monoxide levels are still within the safe limits. It gives a visual cue to people inside: the system will light up green to signify that the air quality is safe and will turn to red once Carbon Monoxide levels have reached a critical point. It also has an alarm function to further notify the occupant inside. As it is directly hooked-up to the vehicle. It will automatically turn on whenever the vehicle is switched on and will immediately check the air inside.

"The Car Nox is a life saving carbon monoxide detection device. It would be installed in new & older vehicles through the computer, ignition, power lock & window systems," says inventor Michael R. "It would also provide protection in homes with automatic garage door openers. The tragic loss of lives in the recent snow storm in New York confirms the need for a carbon monoxide detection device in vehicles. If even one life is saved by the Car Nox, it will be well worth the cost. We expect to target a Worldwide Market & look forward to teaming with Vehicle Manufacturers to make all vehicles a safer living & driving experience."

Myrtle Gomez, a car sales agent from New York, NY, has this to say about Car Nox: "Reports of Carbon Monoxide poisoning inside running vehicles have caused a drastic dent in car sales and have actually increased the alarm of buyers. Car Nox is an aftermarket modification that is commonly referred to buyers if they are worried about CO poisoning. Granted, the chances are rather small and it rarely does happen, but when it comes to safety and health of the family, it would always be better to be safe than sorry. This car invention gives them that peace of mind that if something does go wrong, they can spot it early and do something about it."

Car Nox is a car invention that is designed to keep the people inside vehicles safe. Just like any technological advancement, vehicles and cars have brought on their own sets of disadvantages. However, they are too advantageous to not be used so the best way to get around the problem is to detect it early.
