

Dangerous Drivers Beware, the Internet Can Reach Out and Touch You

Now the Internet can actually make our roads safer. A new web site, appropriately named, ReportDangerousDrivers.com can help make our roads safer for everyone. Reckless drivers are now on notice that the many responsible drivers can now use this new web site to report their careless and dangerous driving stunts.

(PRWEB) September 22, 2003 -- Pittsburgh, PA (PRWEB) September 22, 2003 How many times have we all been witness to reckless drivers that have put us and others in harms way? How helpless and powerless we feel, and have muttered to ourselves, "where's a cop when you need one?" With the introduction of a new web site, we can now identify those drivers that terrorize our roads and highways. PIC America Inc., a Pittsburgh based company has just announced its new public service web site appropriately named ReportDangerousDrivers.com.

Irresponsible and dangerous drivers have been the root cause of countless deaths and injuries for years. "Every year, over 30,000 people are killed on our roads in this country and a large percentage of those deaths are directly attributable to reckless drivers," says Dennis White, co-founder of ReportDangerousDrivers.com.

"Short of having police and highway patrol vehicles stationed behind every bush, many people believe that it's a problem that we just need to live or die with," says White. Education and public safety announcements just do not work with a certain portion of the public.

"The solution to this problem is really quite simple. It's us against them and the good news is that there are far more safe drivers on the road than dangerous drivers. It's a matter of the safe drivers banding together. When you witness a reckless driver, just get their license plate number. Then when you get home, file a report at our web site. It's free and only takes a few minutes to file a report," says White.

The database of traffic violations is freely accessible to everybody, and it is very easy to use. Simply enter a plate number and the state from which the plate is registered, and then you will be able to view any and all violation reports that have been filed against this particular vehicle.

Peer pressure and parental pressure may very well prove to be the key to stopping many of these drivers. Even dangerous drivers have loving friends and family that would be very disappointed if they were aware of their reckless driving habits. An additional incentive for these reckless drivers will in essence be their awareness that others can and will notice their irresponsible driving. And others, that choose to drive responsibly, may monitor them on the Internet.

Parents, spouses and other love ones will have access to the violation reports by simply knowing a plate number.

ReportDangerousDrivers.com was designed and developed by Dennis and Joseph White, a father and son team that strongly believe that this is a problem that can be remedied or at least significantly reduced.
