San Diego, CA (PRWEB) January 06, 2015 -- American motorists who are labeled as a risk to an insurance agency are usually required to obtain a bonded policy for coverage. The Quotes Pros company is now including what could be the best high risk insurance prices in 2015 from national companies that can be viewed at <http://www.quotespros.com/auto-insurance.html>.

The mixture of agencies that are now available to review when using the Quotes Pros web portal should help a person who needs to obtain an SR22 car insurance quote find state accepted coverage. The real time database that is now usable without charge has been enhanced with 2015 data for car owners.

"The most risky drivers on the road in the U.S. can be a liability for insurance agencies and our system is helping to reveal affordable prices for risk level plans," said one Quotes Pros source.

The new price database that has been upgraded at the Quotes Pros website also includes special rates for general coverage. Unlike the bonded policies available, the general plans include other formats of coverage that could be appropriate for single or multi-car drivers. Plans for state minimum, full coverage, modified and broad form are now searchable this year.

"The car owners who will use our database do not have to give out their personal information because we only need a zip code to match providers to motorists," said the source.

The Quotes Pros company portal was first installed on the web in 2013 and helped drivers to find local insurers to discover pricing. The system upgrades that have been included since the initial development phase have resulted in more national companies being searchable. Motorists will now be able to search for life insurance as well as homeowner insurance at <http://quotespros.com/life-insurance.html>.
