(PRWEB) February 4, 2004 --Many consumers don't realize that the same wood dash trim sold at local dealerships can be purchased factory direct from WoodDashFactory.com at a considerably lower price. The average car-owner normally finds savings of over $200 when buying a dash kit from WoodDashFactory.com instead of having a dealer provide the exact same wood dash kit.

“Most of our customers can't believe their ears when we give them a quote for wood dash trim that they've previously priced with several dealerships,” says Justin Griego, office representative of WoodDashFactory.com. “The reason the price is so low is because we're selling the same product for the same price to the common customer and dealership alike.”

With over 1,000 different kits offered on their site, wooddashfactory.com has the widest selection available to the general public and dealerships in the world. On their site you will find a variety of selections for several different model years and makes. Several different real wood materials and synthetic materials are available. It's pretty easy to use. First pick out the number of pieces and coverage you want by looking at the diagrams; next select the material that you want your kit made in.

Vehicles with factory wood, wood trim that comes with the car from the factory itself, can have kits made to perfectly match that factory wood. If a car is an older model but still has factory wood, does this mean that the kit is no longer available? “We offer factory matches from vehicles made as long as 20 years ago to vehicles made 20 days ago” answers Michael Conway, Wood Dash Factory installation manager.

Most people looking to give their interior a new and unique look inside find that a wood dash kit is the perfect choice. Now finding a lower price than ever before by going to WoodDashFactory.com, a recent upsurge has hit the business in the past couple years. With seven years of online sales and seventeen years overall in the business, WoodDashFactory.com has a well educated and friendly staff is available to answer all questions and provide customer service of exceptional quality.
