

World Patent Marketing Invention Team Offers A Safe And Practical Way To Recharge A Car Battery With Batt Tabs

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Auto Parts Invention. Will Batt Tabs Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) July 22, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces Batt Tabs, a tool to make car repair easier and safer.

"The Auto Parts industry is worth $53 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "This invention will prevent accidents that damage the car's battery."

"The battery is probably the most important part of the car," says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. "If the battery dies, the car doesn't run. This is an invention meant to get batteries started as quickly and easily as possible."

Batt Tabs makes starting a car battery simpler than ever. They are shaped like bat wings, so they attach more easily to the battery than normal cables. Each Tab is marked with a plus or minus symbol so it's obvious which side it attaches to. There are many battery-related accidents each year. This will prevent accidents and potential damage to the battery.

"Batt Tabs make jump starting your vehicle a no-brainer," says inventor Gregory K, "It takes away the guesswork on what goes where. Which gives you the confidence to do the jump more easily and more safely."

Jonathan Joseph, a college student from Indiana, had this to say about Batt Tabs: "I've had my car's battery die on me more than once and that makes it very inconvenient to get around. I even had to have it replaced once due to attaching the wrong cables. With Batt Tabs, I'll be able to charge my battery perfectly every time." Batt Tabs are an auto parts invention that will help get a car's battery started again.
