

Johnex3 Motorsports of Niagara Falls takes over Johnex Motorsports Cobra replica building program

Johnex3 Motorsports building the finest 427 Cobra series and Grand Sport Corvette replica automobiles

(PRWEB) March 21, 2004 --Johnex Motorsports opened its doors over ten years ago with the intention of building a "cutting-edge" Cobra. After studying products being produced by the existing Cobra sources, Rather than reproduce another Cobra using traditional ladder-style frame, They hired the most successful race-chassis design firm in North America to create the foundation for the Cobra series. Using their 24 years of chassis design experience, CSC Racing rose to the challenge and showed the entire industry that chassis design has vastly improved in the 35 years since Carroll's cars were built. Although the Johnex frame is considerably more expensive to produce, we insist on it for every car.

At Johnex3 Motorsports the same mentality was applied to every component of the product bearing the name. Simply stated, Johnex3 uses the most current engineering and the finest components to build truly amazing "up-engineered" cars. Although a typical Johnex3 Cobra carries a pretty respectable pricetag, we do not believe in compromise, and neither do our customers.
