(PRWEB) April 15, 2004 -- Do you want to give your daughter the gift of driving on her next birthday? Looking for driver ed programs that are necessary before she can take it on to the roads? Welcome to the website of TeenDrivingCourse.com, where you will find detailed information about our various driver ed programs. In order to get a learner's permit, students are generally required to take a driver ed class that includes both classroom time and driving time with an authorized instructor.

However, in today's "time-crunched" world, it is not only inconvenient but also impractical to spend your time in driver ed classrooms. And therefore, we offer various driver ed programs online that allow teenagers to complete this requirement from their home. We offer different driver ed program options for different states and prices vary, depending on which driver ed program you choose. Click here and learn more about our driver ed options applicable for your state.

In addition to our driver ed programs, we offer you with "Rules of the Road" --- a supplemental driver ed DVD for aiding you become a better driver. Winner of The Communicator Crystal Award of Excellence (an international awards program founded by communications professionals to recognize excellence in the communication field), The Aegis Awards (the video industry's premier competition for peer recognition of outstanding video productions and non-network TV commercials), Discus Awards and a finalist of Telly Award, our "Rules of the Road" are a "must-have" for any budding driver.

Also, we offer "Teen Forum" where you can discuss various finer points of driving, "Help Desk" to get answers to your driver ed queries regarding our driving courses and "DMV Practice Exam" after successful completion of our teen driving course. This will allow your teen to practice with real DMV Driver Ed practice questions.
