

InventHelp Invention Designs Extreme-Condition Protection for Vehicles (AUP-486)

*InventHelp, a leading inventor service firm, is submitting the SHIELD*DING*S to companies for their consideration and potential feedback.*

PITTSBURGH, PA (PRWEB) November 12, 2015 -- A hailstorm caused expensive damage to his vehicle, so an inventor from Alton, Texas, decided that there needs to be a reliable way to protect vehicles from such harsh conditions.

The SHIELD*DING*S provides reliable protection for a vehicle exterior during harsh conditions such as hailstorms. This prevents dings and other expensive damage, which saves time and money. It also helps reduce insurance costs. Portable, compact and easy to use, it's ideal for households, car-rental companies, car dealerships, RV dealerships, boat marinas, etc.

In addition, it's suitable for driving over gravel, construction sites and other rough ground.

The original design was submitted to the Austin office of InventHelp. It is currently available for licensing or sale to manufacturers or marketers.
