

Keep Track of Mileage and Business Expenses With InventHelp® Client Invention, Business Buddy (BTM-2323)

A Pennsylvania-based InventHelp client has invented the Business Buddy, which is being submitted to companies for review.

Pittsburgh, PA (PRWEB) November 03, 2016 -- For reimbursement and tax purposes, an inventor from Glen Burnie, Md., has to keep track of mileage and businesses expenses when she's on the road for my work. It can be a hassle to keep up with these details, and inaccuracy is always a danger. "This is why I designed a better way to organize such data," she said.

The Business Buddy is a device that enables a user to organize and keep track of mileage and business expenses in an easier manner. It promotes efficiency and accuracy, as well as eliminates the need to deal with lots of papers. Overall, it streamlines reimbursement and tax matters.

Featuring an easy-to-use and compact design, the device is ideal for realtors, salespeople and anyone whose work requires travel by vehicle.

The original design was submitted to the Baltimore office of InventHelp. It is currently available for licensing or sale to manufacturers or marketers.
