PAOLI, Pa. (July 18th, 2019) – Aftermarket truck parts company AmericanTrucks (AT) is pleased to announce two more recipients of their scholarship program for the Fall of 2019: Ifeyinwa Ibeabuchi of Northern Arizona University and Ryan Hess of The Ohio State University.

Ifeyinwa is pursuing a degree in Emergency Management with a minor in Construction Technology Management with plans of obtaining her Master’s in Security & Disaster Management for a career with the Bureau of Land Management. Ryan is pursuing a degree in Civil Engineering with a focus on the construction industry and plans of climbing the ranks to project executive.

Introduced in 2017, the AmericanTrucks Scholarship is an essay-based program where entrants are instructed to write about who they are and how they plan to use their education to contribute to a thriving community of trade workers who are dedicated to a hands-on approach to knowledge development. Each year, 4 winners are selected—two for the spring and two for the fall, with each winner receiving a $2,000 scholarship.

To date, AmericanTrucks has awarded $4,000 in scholarships over the course of a year, with plans to select many more future scholarship winners. If you are a high school senior or full-time student at an American vocational, technical, or tuition-bearing apprenticeship programs, who is pursuing an certification, trade degree, or related field of study, all you have to do is send in a 700-1500 word essay following the essay prompt to scholarships@americantrucks.com with proof of enrollment. Winners of the fall scholarship will be notified by July 15th and spring scholarship winners will be notified by November 15th.
