Car insurance rates vary widely, depending on many factors, such as the research of new automotive technologies, massive recalls or unemployment rates for a particular area. Policyholders should compare prices periodically and see if the current provider still offers competitive prices. Brokerage websites, like <http://compare-autoinsurance.org/> allow its users to get multiple quotes and compare them.

- Getting online quotes is recommended before purchasing a car or switching insurance companies. As mentioned before, the market is influenced by multiple factors beyond the policyholder’s control. But there are several factors which will help drivers get better rates. Selecting the coverage amount, coverage type and deductible levels, for example, will help drivers modify the costs. And using online quotes will help them simulate the costs.
- Online costs will help drivers find coverage for special needs or special situations. For example, online quotes will help drivers to find non-standard carriers. Clients can find companies specialized in insuring only military personnel or insuring only vintage and classic cars. When dealing with specialized non-standard carriers, comparing quotes become really important. The price difference between 2 specialized carriers can be really high.
- It is possible to get quotes from multiple car insurance companies in a single results page. This is the main advantage of using brokerage websites. This removes the need of repeating the task of filling in a questionnaire on multiple insurance websites. Moreover, the user will be able to compare prices faster and easier.
