

Bulkmatic and Bulk FR8 Enter Joint Venture to Launch Dry Bulk FR8

New Company Offers Nationwide Dry Bulk Brokerage and Logistics Services

GRIFFITH, Ind. (PRWEB) January 14, 2020 -- Bulkmatic, one of the largest dry bulk transporters in North America, and Bulk FR8 LLC, a nationwide leader in liquid bulk logistics and freight management, announced today that they are starting a joint venture to provide nationwide truckload capacity solutions for dry bulk shippers.

The new company, Dry Bulk FR8, brings together industry leading expertise, technology, and safety-focused operations in the area of pneumatic tank truck management and brokerage. Dry Bulk FR8 will improve shippers' ability to handle dry bulk supply chain challenges and provide access to capacity from a large base of tank truck carriers capable of handling dry bulk loads.

“We’ve provided dry bulk trucking and rail transload services for more than 50 years. We are happy to announce that we can now offer brokerage services by working with one of the best liquid bulk brokerages in the business and become a one-stop transportation solution for our customers,” said Chris Kravas, president of Bulkmatic.

Dry Bulk FR8 is headquartered at Bulkmatic’s newly renovated corporate office in Griffith, Indiana. Bulk FR8’s employees have relocated from Seattle to the new company’s location.

“This is an exciting alliance because we share a similar customer service philosophy and company culture. By combining our strong management team, advanced brokerage technology, and safety- focused processes with Bulkmatic’s expertise and capacity in dry bulk trucking, we will offer the dry bulk transportation market unparalleled service and rates,” said Wayne Levinson, founder and president of Bulk FR8.
