

Rhino Off-Road's RTV Maximum Safety and Unparallel Performance.

Rhino Off-Road Industries Rough Terrain Vehicle® (RTV) Set New Standards in Off Road Safety.

Las Vegas NV (PRWEB) June 23, 2004 -- Rhino Off-Road Industries makers of the Rhino RTV in response to the growing numbers of Off-Road injuries has incorporated a never before seen number of safety feature into it's RTV. According to The Consumer Product Safety Commission nearly 114,000 people were treated for ATV injuries two in 2002 with increases expected in 2003. In many cases these injuries could have been prevented in an RTV, as every Rhino RTV comes with a full racing compliant roll cage made from 1.5" street tubing, emission and noise standards designed to meet or exceed California Green Sticker requirements, as well as a National Forestry Service approved spark arrester.

"Safety was a major consideration for us when designing the RTV," said Howard Pearl President of Rhino Off-Road "and we were determined to design the safest and best performing Off-Road vehicles that provide the best possible ride combined with the ability to go almost anywhere you want to go and back safely."
