

AutoPath Technologies launches Canadian automotive portal website

Carpages.ca offers a no-cost alternative to Canadians looking to sell a used vehicle.

MISSISSAUGA (PRWEB) June 27, 2004 - AutoPath Technologies today announced the official launch of Carpages.ca, an online automotive portal for Canadians.

Carpages.ca offers a new, no-cost alternative to Canadians wishing to sell a used vehicle. Until now, selling a vehicle privately has been a costly and time-consuming process.

Carpages.ca eliminates the cost of advertising a used vehicle for sale by providing a free online used-vehicle marketplace. The process of listing a vehicle on Carpages.ca takes about five minutes, and exposes the vehicle to a national audience of used car shoppers.

Sellers are guided through the selling process, and prompted to enter specifics about their vehicle. In addition, sellers can attach up to six digital photos of their vehicle at no extra charge.

Apart from private vehicle sales, Carpages.ca also provides a medium for car dealers to advertise their used-vehicle inventory. Dealers are provided with a password protected login area to the website where they can publish their inventory quickly and effortlessly.
