Cheap Car Search Takes the Hassle Out of Online Auto Auctions

(PRWEB) September 30, 2004 -- The Cheap Car Search service (see:<http://carauctions.cjb.net/>)launched this month streamlines online searching and bidding for seized property auctions across the United States. The service boasts comprehensive access to government, police, IRS and state agency property auctions. if you're looking for a deal on your next car (anything from economy right on up to luxury models), you can probably find it here.

Visitors may search the database by U.S. state and vehicle model. Members have full access to review and bid on listed auto auctions plus a full database of additional seized property ranging from boats to jewelry to antiques.

Just how good are the deals on used cars? Average starting bids range 80% to 90% off book value. Bidders are connected direct to sellers making clear title transfer a snap. Buyers will find both new and used models;and, better yet, models with low mileage at a significant discount.

Whether you're in the market as an individual car buyer or as an investor looking to buy low and sell high, Cheap Car Search is worth a serious look.
