

Worldwide Business Opportunity Offered by Battery Doctors

Battery Doctors, a division of ProTec International, has over 500 operators worldwide and continues to be a perfect business opportunity for entrepreneurs or for those who are looking to generate additional income.

(PRWEB) November 1, 2004 -- Battery Doctors, a California based distributor for ProTec International, has recently launched an aggressive campaign to provide new business opportunity by establishing a limited number of Battery Doctors distributors in the United States. They offer this business opportunity to everyone from large corporations to individual entrepreneurs who want to start their first business.

The business is simple yet revolutionary. Batteries typically lose their ability to hold a charge because of sulphation buildup on the battery plates, but Battery Doctors has developed and patented a way to rid the plates of this buildup. A small amount of a chemical called ProBat® is poured into the batteries. ProBat is an environmentally safe, non-acidic, non-hazardous product. The battery is then charged with a specifically designed charger, prepped, and ready to work again.

Anyone can use this business opportunity to start their own business of reconditioning batteries. Since the chemicals used by Battery Doctors divisions are exclusive to Battery Doctors, there is almost no competition. This is just one of the reasons why this battery reconditioning business is so successful and why this is the ideal business opportunity.

Now Battery Doctors is offering this business opportunity to a few individuals looking to start a business with unlimited earning potential. The Battery Doctors program shows their new business owners how to get their company started. And since almost all batteries can be reconditioned, this is not a difficult task.

Auto repair shops, auto parts stores, gas stations, car dealers, auto dismantlers, and recycling centers are just a few examples of the many places where Battery Doctors owners can get discarded batteries, usually at no cost. After acquiring the batteries, they are reconditioned and sold. This business opportunity is also environmentally friendly, because it keeps the batteries out of landfills and from polluting our water systems.

To take advantage of this exclusive business opportunity, visit www.batterydoctors.com or call 1-800-357-4003 for free information. Battery Doctors is limiting the number of operators in the United States, and with such a promising prospect like this, the opportunity will not last for long.

Marc. S. Keith, Director of Product Development for Battery Doctors, says of this business opportunity, "Where else can you find a ground-floor business opportunity that has practically no competition, unlimited income potential, a low start-up cost and is recession proof? Because batteries are used in every industry, this really is the perfect business opportunity."

This business opportunity is very unique. Almost all businesses regularly use batteries, which creates a huge market for this battery reconditioning business. The large market also allows a Battery Doctors business to be virtually immune to a slow economy. In addition, Battery Doctors limits the number of operators in any geographical area to ensure a healthy business environment.

What more could be asked of a business opportunity? The Battery Doctors system is a proven system, and over 500 distributors worldwide are the proof.

Battery Doctors is a division of ProTec International, LLC. In the last 6 years they have successfully established distributors in more than forty countries worldwide through licensing, marketing, and providing business opportunity in the high-potential business of battery reconditioning. ProTec International is a member of the World Trade Center and the Better Business Bureau and has been awarded many grants and honors from U.S. Governmental Agencies. They have formed alliances with established companies on nearly every continent to market and license their proprietary products and to spread their promising business opportunity worldwide.

# #

Contact Information

Marc. S. Keith

Battery Doctors

<http://www.batterydoctors.com>

530-295-8343

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.