

Angel on Wheels Delivers Compassion and Hope to Lost, Homeless

Seven Years After Being Struck By A Car And Suffering Severe Head Trauma, Debra White Has Never Lost Hope. Still Confined To an Electric Scooter, Her Physical Limitations Have Never Impaired Her Heart's Mission To Bring Love To Arizona's Less Fortunate.

Scottsdale, AZ (PRWEB) December 15, 2004 -- In January of 1994, while enjoying a nightly walk with her two dogs, Debra White was struck by a car. The impact left her hospitalized for two months with severe brain damage, a seizure disorder, physical impairments and short term memory loss. Although her own life would never be without struggle, her desire to help others never died.

Upon moving to Phoenix in 1997 to start a new life, Ms. White began volunteering at Maricopa County Animal Care & Control in Tempe. Each week she delivers blankets, treats and most importantly kind words to each animal in nearly 300 kennels that span the hallways of the shelter. "Each animal is acknowledged or rewarded in some way," says Ms. White. "It's not their fault they have ended up here." Seven and a half years later her presence has become a comfort to stray pets who await the arrival of their owners, and a final caress of kindness to those who will never go home.

Debra White's heart can be compared to the battery in the electric scooter for which she relies on to get around. Both are honest about her life and equally require a full charge prior to arriving at the shelter each week. Undoubtedly both are drained of energy as her visit comes to an end, when she realizes that her compassionate contribution are the closest thing these animals have to home or the last touch of kindness they may feel on this earth. What's said between Debra and the thousands of animals she has loved at the shelter will forever remain private, and bitter sweet for the reality of how many are abused, neglected or euthanized is a secret which Ms. White is dedicated to making public.

Debra White's mission of compassion goes beyond the walls of Animal Care and Control. She has embarked on a journey to help animals who are physically confined, not by an accident but by the unwillingness of man to recognize the sheer cruelty of tethering. She is referring to those who choose to chain a companion pet outdoors, rather than embrace them as the family members they should be. "This is a life sentence for an animal who has never committed a crime," says White.

She has a personal and profound connection with animals that succumb to this type of physical abuse. She has experienced the gifts of physical freedom and has tasted the sheer torment physical confinement and restraint can bring. Her wish to bring freedom to animals has become a part of her soul's journey.

In addition to Ms. White's crusade and steadfast volunteering, she has self-published a book called "Nobody's Pet." Developed as a fundraising tool for shelters, "Nobody's Pet" is an educational book intended to give shelter animals a voice, while raising money for the animal rescue cause. She is hoping to bring the book mainstream to further her efforts. This book is available through many shelters and rescues throughout the country or by visiting www.4-footedfriends.com.

Ms. White will be the first "Rescue Hero" to be honored on the By Vets Only website at www.byvetsonly.com. By Vets Only is a Arizona pet supplement company dedicated to helping animals become healthier, while supporting animal rescue organizations and the heroes who dedicate their life to this very worthy cause.

Each month By Vets Only will select and honor someone they feel has made a profound impact in the lives of rescued animals. If you ask Debra White about being honored she will probably tell you that she's grateful for one thing and that is to have known seven and a half years of unconditional love in a world that can be very cruel.

By Vets Only wants to thank Debra White for her unyielding commitment and heroism to animals in a time when there are not enough real-life heroes/heroines.

By Vets Only, Inc has recently teamed up with Pets911, www.pets911.com, the largest and most reputable Animal Rescue Resource and Lost And Found Organization in the US. This partnership will provide one-of-a-kind affiliate donation program to 9,700 shelters and rescues throughout the country, whereas 25% of any By Vets Only order will be donated to participating rescues. This program launched November 15th on the www.pets911.com website. A product and company endorsement can be seen on the website as well.

As By Vets Only, Inc www.byvetsonly.com continues to expand their pet product line with the help of vets, chemists, and professional formulators they will extend the donation potential to the nation's rescues and shelters. Currently By Vets Only manufactures Petaprin, a natural pain reliever and joint remedy, PetaCalm a natural, herbal anti-anxiety supplement, PetMulti Senior Formula an essential vitamin/mineral supplement for dogs that lack essential nutrients, an important part of healing and reducing premature aging. The company plans to release 3 additional products by January 2005, they include a natural equine pain reliever in its final stage of testing, an herbal parasite product and PetaMint, a bad breath neutralizer for dogs, which is also currently in its final stages of testing.
