

Electric Vehicle Charging Leader SemaConnect Recruits New Senior Vice President of Sales, Tony Sargent

Leading EV Infrastructure Company Hires Electrical Industry Veteran to Lead North American Sales Expansion

BOWIE, Md. (PRWEB) August 19, 2021 -- SemaConnect, leading provider of electric vehicle charging amenities to the North American commercial, residential, and fleet markets, has added Tony Sargent as the new Senior Vice President of Sales. A veteran of the electrical systems industry, Mr. Sargent brings 20 years of sales leadership experience at the Eaton Corporation and CE Power Solutions to SemaConnect.

SemaConnect designs and manufactures smart networked electric vehicle charging stations for commercial use. The Series 6, SemaConnect's premier charging station, is designed for shared charging at all commercial applications. More recent additions to the SemaConnect product lineup include the Series 5 for multifamily personal use, the Series 7 for fleets, and the Series 7 Plus for high-powered fleets. SemaConnect charging stations are known for their futuristic design, best-in-class warranty, and easy-to-use SemaConnect Network management software. As the new Senior Vice President of Sales, Mr. Sargent will lead the expansion of SemaConnect's sales team and growth into new markets.

"We're excited to welcome Tony to the SemaConnect team as he leads our sales to new heights," said Mahi Reddy, CEO at SemaConnect. "SemaConnect is expanding rapidly, and we're bringing new charging solutions to market this year. Electric vehicles and EV charging are already taking off, and Tony's leadership and expertise will be essential in helping us win a significant share of the market."
