The first years of driving are the most dangerous for teen drivers. Teen drivers who attend defensive driving courses are less likely to be involved in car accidents. Also, many insurance companies will offer a discount to those teen drivers that graduate a defensive driving course.

Teen drivers can gain the following benefits after graduating from a defensive driving course:

- Learning the fundamentals. It is very important for teen drivers to learn to master a series of road rules. With the help of a defensive driving course, teen drivers can learn these rules in a systemic way.
- Builds confidence. For many teenagers, being behind the wheel for the first time can be scary. A defensive driving course will help the teens overcome their fears by allowing them to practice in a safe environment where they can build confidence in their abilities while being guided by an experienced instructor.
- Learning the risks. Driving is dangerous and teens need to know that. Teens who are not even a little nervous about driving might not be aware of how dangerous driving can be. Teen drivers will learn how dangerous driving can be and how to avoid certain risks.
- Acknowledge the consequences. One of the most important topics of a defensive driving course is the one containing the consequences of DUI. In this course, teens will learn about the consequences of driving under the influence and how to take responsibility for their safety and the safety of others.
- Learn the state laws. Depending on where the teen drivers live. they will be presented with an up-to-date version of their state traffic laws.
- Save money on car insurance. Most insurance companies are offering discounts to teen drivers who manage to graduate from a defensive driving course. This discount is beneficial for teen drivers that are always placed in the high-risk category and are required to pay expensive premiums.
