Feese Returns to NASCAR in Nashville-Blake Feese will make his return to NASCAR Saturday August 1, 2009 at Nashville Superspeedway piloting the No. 15 Billy Ballew Motorsports NASCAR Camping World Truck.

The 27-year-old driver has one career NASCAR Camping World Truck Series start driving for Billy Ballew Motorsports in 2005 where he finished in the 15th-place position. Feese ran 13 events in the NASCAR Nationwide Series in 2004 and 2005.

The Billy Ballew Motorsports team will return to the Nashville Superspeedway with eight prior starts at the track with a best finish of 11th-place posted in 2004 and 2005. Feese has two ARCA RE/MAX Series races to his credit at the 1.33-mile D-shaped oval, posting one win in 2004 and a ninth-place finish in 2007.

"I'm so excited to be back racing in the trucks this weekend at Nashville," Blake Feese said. "I made my first ever Camping World Truck Series start for Billy Ballew in 2005. I've worked with Richie (Wauters, crew chief) before and I couldn't be happier than to have this whole team believe in me to drive for them this weekend. They have consistently fast, solid trucks every week and I'm ready to jump right in. I've won in the ARCA (RE/MAX) Series and have a lot of laps from testing over the years in Nashville so I feel pretty good going back to that track. I have to thank Billy (Ballew) for the opportunity to drive the No. 15 Tundra this weekend and hopefully we'll bring home a solid finish Saturday."

The No. 15 Billy Ballew Motorsports team comes off a season's best finish of third-place last weekend at O'Reilly Raceway Park with Aric Almirola piloting the NASCAR Camping World truck.
