Trackdays.co.uk have released forty special offers in their experience days section which will be on sale during the January sales window. The offers can be purchased up until the 31st January 2013.

(PRWEB UK) 1 January 2013 -- Trackdays.co.uk have released forty special offers in their experience days section which will be on sale during the January sales window. The offers can be purchased up until the 31st January 2013.

Trackdays.co.uk is a track day and experience gifts website which is owned and managed by Digital Sports Group. They specialise in own vehicle Car and Motorcycle track days as well as 'red letter days' style gifts such as driving experiences and flying experiences.

Dan Jones, Operations Manager for Trackdays.co.uk said, "Although our biggest sales month (December) has passed January is still an important time as many customers are looking for deals for occasions such as birthday gifts. We have extended most of our Christmas offers so that our customers can come to us for a bargain."

The new offers are part of a 'year end sale' and include twenty seven driving experiences ranging from supercar experiences to rally driving, three watersport experiences, five flying experiences and a few other alternative experiences such as tank driving.
