

CYBEX Cloud Q Car Seat Launches in the U.S.

Infant car seat lies flat for use outside of the car

Boston (PRWEB) March 14, 2016 -- When CYBEX designs a car seat, parents expect it to bring something new and special to the table. The CYBEX Cloud Q, announced today, delivers on that promise.

The Cloud Q is built with the same uncompromising Safety, unique Design and intelligent Functionality consumers have come to expect from CYBEX. But this seat goes a step further, introducing a number of unique features.

Outside of the vehicle, parents can slide the seat into a fully horizontal position. This means sleeping babies can lie completely flat, without having to transfer them into a separate carry cot. The Cloud Q has been developed by doctors, midwives and CYBEX safety experts specifically with this in mind.

The tried-and-tested Linear Side-impact Protection (L.S.P. System) has been further improved on the Cloud Q so that it can be telescopically extended on the door side. The first impact of an accident is distributed by the extended side protector, while the flexible material structure of the carrier absorbs the force of the impact and channels it away from the baby.

An XXL UVP50+ sun canopy protects the child from the elements, and elegantly disappears behind a color-coordinated visor when not in use.

In addition to other features, the Cloud Q also comes with a load leg base, designed to minimize forward rotation of the seat in a crash.

The CYBEX Cloud Q can be used by children from birth to 35 lbs, or 30" tall. It is available at Buy Buy Baby for $449.95.
