

PPN launches new site and division serving NASCAR and related companies!

PPN has launched NascarCareers.com and a new division aimed at recruiting talent for Nascar race teams and related companies.

(PRWEB) February 27, 2003 -- Personnel Partners Network, Inc has launched NascarCareers.com and a new division aimed at recruiting talent for Nascar race teams and related companies. This new site features career advice, job listings and much more for those seeking employment in Nascar related companies. The new site is powered by PPN's career portal platform and staffed by a new division dedicated to serving the Nascar family.

PPN President, JD Burton stated, "We are headquartered right in the middle of Nascar country. As recruiting experts and race fans this new venture simply made sense. No one is doing a good job of helping the race teams; tracks, schools and related companies find the talent they need. The nations fastest growing sport is generating a multitude of opportunities and we are helping the right people find the right positions."

PPN is a noted online recruiting expert headquartered in High Point, NC. Recruiters and organizations have used PPN's career portal platform worldwide to create leading job boards. In addition to the new NascarCareers.com, PPN also operates leading sites such as www.gotresumes.com, www.pharmhire.com and www.triademployers.com

Contact Information*J.D. Burton

Personnel Partners Network, Inc.

<http://www.nascareers.com>Online Web 2.0 VersionYou can read the online version of this press release here.