

Champion Announces New 2012 Purpose-Built Racing Oils

Ideal for supercharged and alcohol-burning or nitro-fueled engines, Champion Brands' new hyper-synthetic straight weight SAE 50, SAE 60, & SAE 70 racing oils offer a lower coefficient of friction than competitive motor oils.

(PRWEB) January 05, 2012 -- Champion SAE 50/60/70 Racing Oils are high-viscosity "Purpose-Built" oils designed to resist the thinning effects of fuel dilution and are highly resistant to evaporative losses, reducing oil consumption. These low rates of oil consumption allow oil to flow freely without significant "boil-off" thickening to ensure dependable engine lubrication and protection.

Champion SAE 50/60/70 Racing Oils seal out rust, neutralize acids and resist foaming. Rust inhibition is especially important for engines subject to frequent short-run operations or extended periods of storage. Acid neutralization protects engines from damage caused by corrosive by-products of combustion. Foam resistance ensures protection against the metal-to-metal contact and wear that occurs when air is trapped in oil.

Plus Champion's proprietary TVS Polymer Technology adheres to metal parts for maximum film strength under the harshest of racing conditions. In addition, Champion SAE 50/60/70 Racing Oils are formulated specifically for friction reduction, to significantly reduce operating temperatures, and to prevent forming sludge, varnish, deposits or acids.

Recommended for use in gasoline or alcohol-fueled engines requiring SAE 50/60/70, API SL/CF engine oil and compatible with conventional and synthetic motor oils.
