Cleveland, OH (PRWEB) January 04, 2014 -- The discontinuance of the Chevrolet S10 pickup truck in the U.S. market has created parts shortages for some buyers. The Preowned Engines company has now acquired used 2.2 Chevy S10 engine inventory for parts buyers at <http://www.preownedengines.com>. These four-cylinder motors are part of the certified inventory now listed online.

General Motors produced its S10 2.2L four-cylinder engines from 1994 to 2004. This decade of production helped to introduce the GMT325 platform in the U.S. market. These motors were also inserted into the GMC Sonoma trucks to expand the North American reach. The units now for sale online are OEM assemblies with low mileage.

The Preowned Engines company has completed changes to its third party distribution network in 2013 that are now in place for the 2014 year. The new levels of inventory currently announced as well as different structures in pricing are setup for parts buyers in the U.S. to benefit.

"Millions of S10 trucks were sold during the period of production by GM in the United States and we're now helping vehicle owners still using these trucks find quality motors," said a source at the PreownedEngines.com company.

The new arrivals of inventory currently marketed this year are currently eligible for the warranty placed into the Preowned Engines company policies in 2013. Extended levels of protection are currently available for all purchases that originate from within the United States at zero extra costs for purchasers.

"The 2.2 engines as well as additional GM units that we're selling online are paired with the different levels of warranties that we're including for all shipments," the source confirmed.

The PreownedEngines.com company website is currently featuring the updated inventory of S10 motors and other truck engines listed in stock. The research tools that are offered online are now capable of delivering quotes for pricing to any parts or engine buyers.

Complete shipping policies and other company information can be obtained using the posted pages on the company website.
