

2002 WRX Engine in Used Condition Now Sold at U.S. Engines Company Website Online

2002 WRX engine is now sold as used condition to Subaru motor buyers at the Got Engines company. These OEM units are now publicized for discount prices in the U.S.

Cleveland, OH (PRWEB) January 06, 2014 -- Subaru WRX remains one of the import automobiles popular in the United States market. Used condition vehicle owners who require engine replacements now have a source to buy Subaru units online. The Got Engines company is providing 2002 WRX engine inventory in used condition online at <http://www.gotengines.com/subaru/subaru-engines.html>.

These four-cylinder 2.0 and 2.5 engines are currently listed in the online engines inventory that is promoted by the Got Engines company. New distribution agencies in the North American market able to acquire used Subaru motors has helped make the 2002 WRX motors available for sale.

The imported motors inventory that is acquired by the GotEngines.com company for its U.S. sales has been increased in size over the past year. Apart from the Subaru announcements, motors from Toyota and Honda have been steadily included for online sale.

"The WRX series of motors that we're now providing for online sale is one portion of the AWD engines inventory that is reduced for quick sale online," said one source at the GotEngines.com company.

The Subaru engines acquisition announcement is one new update that has taken place this month at the Got Engines company. A warranty upgrade has taken place to extend the initial coverage amount for each vehicle engine purchased in the U.S. A new extension of up to three years in length is now applied to each motor sold.

"The 2.5 and 2.0 series engines that are now announced for sale online are included in the warranty extension plans that are now offered to every buyer in the U.S.," the source added.

The Got Engines company website has been updated to feature the new inventory and sale pricing for all of the Subaru builds in stock. This immediate price change is viewable when utilizing the inventory research system to locate pricing online. This automated tool is updated daily by company associates to present instant sticker prices to all buyers of replacement vehicle engines.

About GotEngines.com

The GotEngines.com company supplies previously owned automobile engines for reduced U.S. prices online. Engine solutions have been provided by this company for nearly a decade on the Internet. The tools that are established for easy research online help to produce in stock pricing and information for each shipment. The GotEngines.com company warehouse is updated weekly as new engines are acquired through trusted agencies in North America. All engine shipments prepared by this company are sent without freight charges to all American buyers in 2014.

Contact Information

Yale Thomas

GotEngines.com

<http://www.gotengines.com>

+1 (866) 320-1065 Ext: 3

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.