

Aljex Software Integrates with Truckstop.com Web Services

Integration will provide improved information for quick and informed decision making

NEW PLYMOUTH, IDAHO (PRWEB) July 18, 2016 -- Truckstop.com and Aljex Software Inc. have joined forces with the integration of Aljex and Truckstop.com's web services.

Aljex joined Truckstop.com's integrated partners June 20 and will take advantage of Truckstop.com's carrier assurance and vetting product called CACCI (more than 200,000 carrier insurance certificates on file), as well as load posting, load searching, OnBoarding, RateMate, truck posting and truck searching.

"Aljex Software's integration with Truckstop.com is a win-win situation," said Truckstop.com Chief Sales Officer Bill Vitti. "Aljex has proven time and again that it is a customer-oriented business with its cloud-based logistics software and Truckstop.com is the perfect fit to create incremental value for the Aljex customer base."

Aljex's transportation management software for freight brokers is available anywhere at any time and is versatile, adjustable and easy to use. Its web-based system for carriers is fast and intuitive to use. The new integration offerings with Truckstop.com offers even more in the way of rapidly onboarding qualified carriers, executing efficient truck and load postings and searching, and Truckstop.com's unique CACCI product, which removes the guesswork of choosing your carrier partners and provides carrier information from the Truckstop.com data base.

"Aljex customers love the dashboard working style," said Robyn Freeman, executive vice president of sales and marketing for Aljex. "More Truckstop.com tools mean improved information for quick and informed decision-making with the click of a mouse. Integrated Truckstop.com tools suit their fast-paced, dashboard working style."
