Wilcox Motorsport's 2005 British GT2 Challenger is almost complete.

(PRWEB) November 11, 2004 -- Wilcox Motorsport's 2005 British GT2 Challenger is almost complete...

The brand new build 2005 Porsche GT3-RS is 85% complete, and the team hope to test the car before Christmas (images of the car are now available, please visit <http://www.web-solution.co.uk/wms/images/preseason/>).

The exact details of Wilcox Motorsport's GT3 Challenger will also be announced soon " We won't give the game away too much... but we'll use the latest Specification Porsche supercup car for the GT3 Championships and I am confident it will be the quickest car out there " Commented Adam Wilcox.

The team would like to hear from all interested parties who wish to mount a serious challenge on the British GT2 and GT3 Championships next year. Please contact us e-mail protected from spam bots

The British GT Calendar for 2005 Looks like this :

2005 British GT Schedule ( Provisional ).

April 2/3rd Donington Park
April 30/May 1st Magny-Cours - GT2 only
May 7/8th May Croft - GT3 only
May 21/22nd Knockhill
June 11/12th Thruxton
June 25/26th Castle Combe
August 13/14th Silverstone GP Circuit
September 24/25th Mondello Park
October 8/9th Silverstone International

The 2005 British GT Championship will take a whole new format in 2005 which will see the GT2 machines joining the FIA GT for a three hour endurance race at the Grand Prix circuit Magny-Cours in France.

The GT3 Championship will also have one stand alone event, at Croft (with the usual British F3 and supporting package), which will offer a good promotional opportunity for GT3 class sponsors, and will provide exclusive GT3 Championship TV coverage.

The new format is welcomed by all and it should prove it be an exciting year ahead for the 2005 British GT Championships !
